AWARDS & ACCOLADES

2022 ~ 92 Points. "Heracles takes its name from the mythic strongman, a nod to Puglia's Greek roots that stretch back to 700 BCE. Primitivo is genetically identical to California's Zinfandel, though this version is more refined. Black and purple plum lead, warmed by a generous toasty oak. This is Zinfandel's Italian cousin, sun-soaked and unapologetic. It's terrific with barbecued ribs or a plate of chicken wings." - Natalie MacLean, Nov/2026

2022 ~ "Masseria is one of the Tommasi family estates, owning 80 hectares in Manduria, in Apulia's Salento region. This pure primitivo fermented warm in stainless over 2 weeks before a 15 months rest in oak. Super ripe, with baked plum, blueberry compote, caramelized brown sugar, downy violets along a velvet palate, with sueded tannins giving a nubby grip through a brief, bitter cocoa, super plum finish..." - Treve Ring - Gismondi on Wine, Aug/2026

OTHER INFO

The Tommasi passion for wine and their desire to discover and select the very best in Italian winemaking have taken the to Puglia where you'll find the Masseria Surani estate. The Tommasi family purchased 80 hectares of land in the Salento area, one of the finest regions for the cultivation of the Primitivo grape. Here, viticulture has extremely ancient origins, dating back to the time of Magna Graecia.
The property, which lies about 6 km from the Ionian coast, also includes a manor house called 'Masseria' dating back to the early 1900s. A typical complex of agricultural buildings, which originally acted as an organizational centre for all of the farming operations. The renovated Masseria now houses a winery of 700 sqm; complete with winemaking and cellaring facilities.
