AWARDS & ACCOLADES

2020 ~ 94 Points. "The nose is all coffee and licorice, like espresso corrected with sambuca with an orange peel garnish. Cherries and strawberries headline the palate, while more coffee and citrus provide continued warmth. Tannins are textured and chewy." - Danielle Callegari - Wine Enthusiast, Dec/2026

2020 ~ 93+ Points. "The winery is the result of investments by the Tommasi family in Montalcino, with a clear classic label. 36 months in Slavonian oak, a bottle that highlights the olfactory attack on the sensations of cinnamon, then wild plum and marjoram nuances. Iodized sip, still closes on spicy notes." - Luca Gardini, Oct/2024

2020 ~ 92 Points. "Fresh and focused, exhibiting cherry, blood orange, eucalyptus, iron and spice notes. Firms up quickly, with the dense, fine-grained tannins offering lift, while the juicy acidity drives the spice- and mineral-infused finish. Best from 2026 through 2040." - Bruce Sanderson - Wine Spectator, Jun/2025

2020 ~ 92 Points. "At 480 metres above sea level, well-ventilated by constant breezes and encircled by forest, Tommasi’s Casisano property has a natural cooling advantage in warmer vintages. The 2020 preserves pretty aromas of delicate mountain blossoms against ripe redcurrant and raspberry. The midweight palate is easy going with fine-boned tannins. Accents of bitter herbs and forest floor lend intrigue while cool, crisp acidity amplifies the refreshing character. This doesn’t suggest long ageing, but sure is delightful now." - Michaela Morris - Decanter, Nov/2024

2020 ~ 92 Points. "Intense ruby red colour with bright edges. Lots of fruit on the nose, morello cherry, raspberry and cherry as well as some violet. Lots of juice on the palate, salty, ripe tannins, animating acid structure, ripe tannins, good length." - Othmar Kiem & Simon Staffler - Falstaff, Oct/2025

2020 ~ 91 Points. "Relatively light yet structured wine. Leafy and pistachio tones and fresh, floral aromas, such as roses and violets, with leather and black pepper. Medium-bodied with crisp acidity and tight yet ripe tannins that turn more austere on the finish. Drink after 2025." - James Suckling, Oct/2024

2020 ~ 91 Points. "With a cherry red-fruited profile on the nose, the 2020 Brunello Di Montalcino is a bright red color and is fresh with notes of anise, fresh herbs, dusty earth, and red cherries. Medium-bodied, it's zesty and refreshing in style, with fine tannins that are a bit dusty and tangy fresh acidity. It's going to show its best over the coming 7-8 years." - Audrey Frick - Jeb Dunnuck, Jan/2025

2020 ~ 91 Points. "Spicy perfumes initiate the tasting process for Casisano 2020, consistent with many of this Tommasi estate’s Brunello di Montalcino. The fruit is not shy, nor are the chalky-grainy tannins and the wine finds its balance between these prominent parts..." - Michael Godel - Wine Align, Nov/2024

2019 ~ 93 Points. "Tommasi Casisano 2019 Brunello di Montalcino hails from a warm vintage, offering a dry, medium-plus-bodied profile with vibrant aromatics. Delicate floral tones mingle with ripe wild cherry, tangy raspberry, and dried Mediterranean herbs, all complemented by earthy and savoury undertones. The bright acidity, a hallmark of the winery’s high-altitude vineyards, enhances its freshness and structure. A beautifully crafted Brunello, best enjoyed through 2034, pairing wonderfully with truffle-infused pasta or slow-braised osso buco.Brunello Di Montalcino food pairings: roast boar, bison burgers, venison stew." - Natalie MacLean, May/2025

2019 ~ 92 Points. "The nose is Intensely perfumed with spices and herbs, peonies, cherry blossom, dried roses, then allspice, cardamom and thyme. Cherries and blackberries ripen on the palate and the floral aromas concentrate into mandarin blossom reinforced by structured, linear tannins." - Danielle Callegari - Wine Enthusiast, Mar/2025

2019 ~ 92 Points. "Bright ruby red with a cherry-red rim. Fine barrel savouriness, liquorice, vanilla, milk chocolate on the nose, ripe cherry fruit on the finish. Full-bodied on the palate, with compact fruit, delicate sweet mellowness and good acidity, with a lot of wood overhang on the finish, needs patience." - Othmar Kiem & Simon Staffler - Falstaff, Oct/2024

2019 ~ 91 Points. "Dense and focused. Lots of dark fruits, bark, and a hint of cloves. Medium-bodied and creamy on the palate. Rather tensioned and juicy at the finish. Drink or hold." - James Suckling, Sep/2023

2019 ~ 90 Points. "The 2019 Brunello di Montalcino wafts up with a pretty blend of dried strawberries and cedary spice offset by lifting menthol and violet pastille aromas. This is juicy in character with herbal-tinged wild berry fruits and nervous acidity, all spiced up by a zesty touch of tangerine. The 2019 finishes fresh with a vivid red licorice tinge. Orange notes fade amongst subtly grippy tannins." - Antonio Galloni's Vinous, Nov/2023

2019 ~ 90 Points. "Pouring a rich ruby color, the 2019 Brunello Di Montalcino displays a ripe and rather mature nature. Aromas of strawberry pie, baking spices, and balsamic herbs lift from the glass. Snappy acidity lifts the palate, and the wine is medium to full-bodied, with its ripe fruit holding on underneath. I would prefer to drink this over the next several years to preserve what freshness of fruit it has." - Jeb
