AWARDS & ACCOLADES

2021 ~ 92 Points. "Delicious, fragrant, fresh. Poggio al Tufo has been owned by the Tommasi family since 1997; Tommasi owns estates in Valpolicella, Montalcio, Lombardy, Basilicata and Puglia. Rompicollo is made from Cabernet and Sangiovese. Always a beauty of a red, the 2021 delivers seductive notes of dried roses and vanilla, cherries and star anise, cedar and pipe tobacco aromas. Lovely balance in the mouth, expect sweet ripe fruit and lofted acidity. It's medium-bodied, supple and delicious. A food or sipping wine, your choice, it's the whole package." - Daenna Van Mulligen, Jan/2025

2021 ~ 91 Points. "There's an inviting, fresh feel to the mixed berry and plum fruit on the nose and palate. Medium-bodied with a lightly firm but silky feel, turning tighter at the end. Sangiovese and cabernet sauvignon. Drink or hold." - James Suckling, May/2024

2021 ~ 91 Points. SMART BUY "Black currant, blackberry, iron, tapenade and mint aromas and flavors highlight this thickly textured red. Firm and elegant, showing all the characteristics of Cabernet Franc. Ends long. Sangiovese and Cabernet Sauvignon." - Bruce Sanderson - Wine Spectator, Feb/2025

2021 ~ "The 2021 Rompicollo is a fresh, vinous Sangiovese/Cabernet Sauvignon blend. Crushed flowers, sweet red-toned fruit, spice, rose petal and pipe tobacco are nicely lifted in this attractive, easygoing offering from Poggio al Tufo." - Antonio Galloni's Vinous, Dec/2024

2021 ~ "A Tuscan blend of sangiovese and cabernet sauvignon (60/40), grown in calcium carbonate-rich tufa soils in Maremma. Fermented in stainless steel vats and matured for a year in 65 hL Slavonian oak casks, it opens with delicate florals, red cherries, and raspberries layered with green leafy herbs and a hint of savoury spices. With a slightly soft and lean palate for these varieties, this medium bodied red offers a mix of sweet and sour fruit framed by somewhat rustic, drying tannins on the palate." - HJ Cha - Gismondi on Wine, Jan/2025
